Jane Wood - Cheshire

AN INDUSTRY AUTHORITY AND TRUSTED PARTNER

Alongside managing the construction of your plans, we can provide tailored support and consultancy.

By involving Clearview at an early stage, we can work with you and advise on product-specific limitations and ensure that your proposals are safe for manufacturing and installation from the first draft to the last.

ACCREDITATIONS

Clearview is proud to be one of the select few home improvement companies to hold CHAS and Constructiononline accreditations.

Typically held by large-scale, national housebuilders and construction firms, these independently assessed awards show our commitment to health and safety, quality and operational best practices on every project we undertake.

Our supply chains, contracted staff and processes are second to none. And when it comes to site management and building your designs, our accreditations set us apart from the competition.

SETTING NEW STANDARDS TOGETHER

Choose Clearview as your building partner and together, we can set new benchmarks for architectural innovation, safety, and achievement.

BRING YOUR PLANS TO LIFE

Whether your plans are at a concept stage or fully formed architectural drawings, Clearview can bring your ideas to life.

Our designers utilise state-of-the-art software to create impressive 3D renders that take you right into the heart of your plans, giving you unique insight into how your new space will look and feel once completed.

OUR APPROACH

We invest fully in each project and commit ourselves to excellence from concept to completion. Our objective is simple: to deliver construction projects to the highest of standards, on time and within budget.

This is achieved through a creative approach to project management, care and attention to our client's needs, investment in our employees, using the latest technology, and a shared vision to deliver beyond expectations.

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Our dedicated Project Managers will coordinate the build process and work with you to ensure agreed timelines and budgets are met.

SEAMLESS HOME TRANSFORMATIONS

Home extensions often require the challenge of working in occupied spaces. Our experience and qualifications in this area make us experts in navigating this and we're well-versed in minimising disruptions to your daily life.

PRODUCT QUALITY

Clearview has exclusive partnerships with leading manufacturers, ensuring that every project utilises the very best in UK-made home improvement solutions.

OUR SERVICES

We aren't just another building company. We're your all-in-one solution, offering complete support for your project, ranging from advice and consultancy through to ongoing access to our aftercare engineers.

Overseeing projects ranging from simple, small-scale contemporary glazed structures to large, intricate and complex extensions with a six-figure value, Clearview offers the highest quality of building and operational excellence.

Our commitment is to create distinctive living spaces that address your specific needs. With our unparalleled industry expertise, we offer valuable insights into the home improvement market, benefiting both you and your home. We cover everything from design and procurement to regulations and construction for various residential single-story extensions, including conservatories, orangeries, and living spaces.

But it doesn't stop there. We understand that your journey doesn't end with construction. That's why we offer ongoing access to our dedicated aftercare engineers. We're here to ensure that your new living space remains a source of joy and comfort for years to come.

DESIGN CONCEPT - With decades of experience creating showpiece extensions, Clearview can help turn your concepts into a build-ready design. Plus, we can advise on product utilisation to ensure that any plans meet manufacturer and structural guidelines.

RENDERED DESIGNS - Our talented design team can turn any proposals or finalised plans into stunning, lifestyle-themed 3D renders. By utilising our showroom studios, you can take a tour, make live changes and experience the space long before a brick is laid.

PLANNING PERMISSION & BUILDING REGULATIONS - We can coordinate the planning application and work with the relevant authorities to obtain Building Regulations approval.

STRUCTURAL CALCULATIONS - Our surveyors will ensure that all designs are suitable for manufacture and installation. We can provide insight for product-specific limitations and ensure that all structural calculations are correct.

BUILD & PROJECT MANAGEMENT - Utilise Clearview's skilled trades teams and project managers to complete and oversee the building works, delivered on-time and within pre-agreed budgets. With industry-leading qualifications and recognised nationally for our quality, you can rely on us to turn your dream plans into reality.

MAINTENANCE - Our partnership with you doesn't end once the project has been signed off. If there's any suspicion of a problem, we'll be on-hand to conduct regular maintenance checks.

AFTERCARE - We understand that your journey doesn't end with construction. That's why we offer ongoing access to our dedicated aftercare engineers. We're here to ensure that your new living space remains a source of joy and comfort for years to come.

DESIGN & CONSTRUCTION

CASE STUDIES

COOK, CHESHIRE

Brought on board at an early stage as the preferred build partner, Clearview were involved at every phase of the project.

Situated in a conservation area, careful consideration was required to ensure that the proposals were faithful to the original building and would receive planning permission.

Working closely with all the stakeholders, we worked on the design of an interconnecting living space, providing support with product specifications and costing.

The final plans contained a rectangular extension that seamlessly connected to the existing property, encompassing the once-detached garage. This addition incorporated a sophisticated array of bi-folding and patio doors, along with a bespoke, full-width lantern roof that was meticulously crafted and designed.

As the appointed builders for the installation, we managed all aspects of construction, ensuring the project progressed to agreed timescales and budgets.

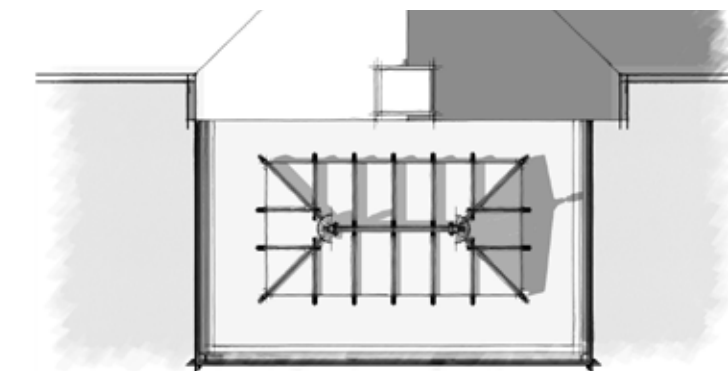

HILTON, CHESHIRE

Clearview was tasked with providing universal design, procurement and installation packages for the redevelopment of this private property in Cheshire.

The homeowners, keen to create a lasting legacy, worked with an architect to draw up plans to completely change the rear elevation of their house.

The design is traditional yet luxuriously contemporary. The five-panel bi-folding doors have a dual purpose: increasing ease of access and filling the extension and rear of the property with natural light.

Construction work was expertly managed, with Clearview looking after all building phases, along with the final fit.

HOLT, WIGAN

In construction at the time of printing, Clearview was appointed the sole build partner for this traditional and beautifully designed orangery.

Situated on the side elevation of a breathtaking period property, careful consideration was given to the aesthetics of the orangery and the materials required to ensure the structure felt like a natural extension that had been in-situ for centuries.

Under our management, building work is progressing quickly and well-within the value of the project.

KNIGHT, CHESTER

A testament to collaboration, from our initial meeting, to proposed plans and building completion. After encountering challenges with denied planning permission, the Knights approached us for assistance. Clearview provided a fresh perspective, offering new detailed documentation of the planning that would be required, alongside 3D renders.

Clearview were successful in securing planning permission, after two previous unsuccessful applications which were completed by a third party. Impressed by our knowledge and depth of preparatory research, we were awarded the contract to complete the building work.

BROOKES, SOUTHPORT

Clearview was approached to design a single-storey extension with a unique footprint, following previous planning permission being denied. Instead of a rectangular floorplan, the client required triangular kitchen and living space extension, not only to add a unique architectural feature to their home, but also to be considerate for their neighbour's access to light.

NEWMAN, GREATER MANCHESTER

Working with an architectural practice, we helped to design and then install a stunning, lean-to conservatory, bookended by a beautifully rendered structural goalpost.

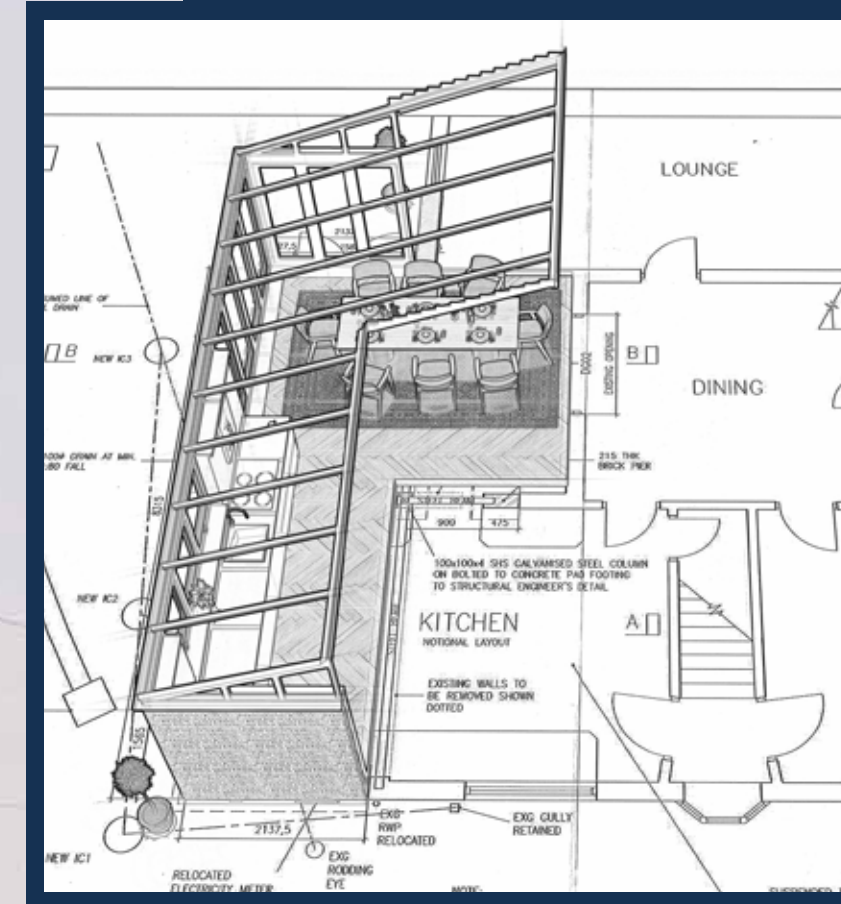

Thanks to our input, the initial design plans were tweaked slightly to remove any structural concerns and allow for the goalpost to house a feature set of aluminium bi-folding doors.

The resulting extension has vastly transformed the already stunning property. With an extended living space that opens out to their spacious patio area and the garden beyond.

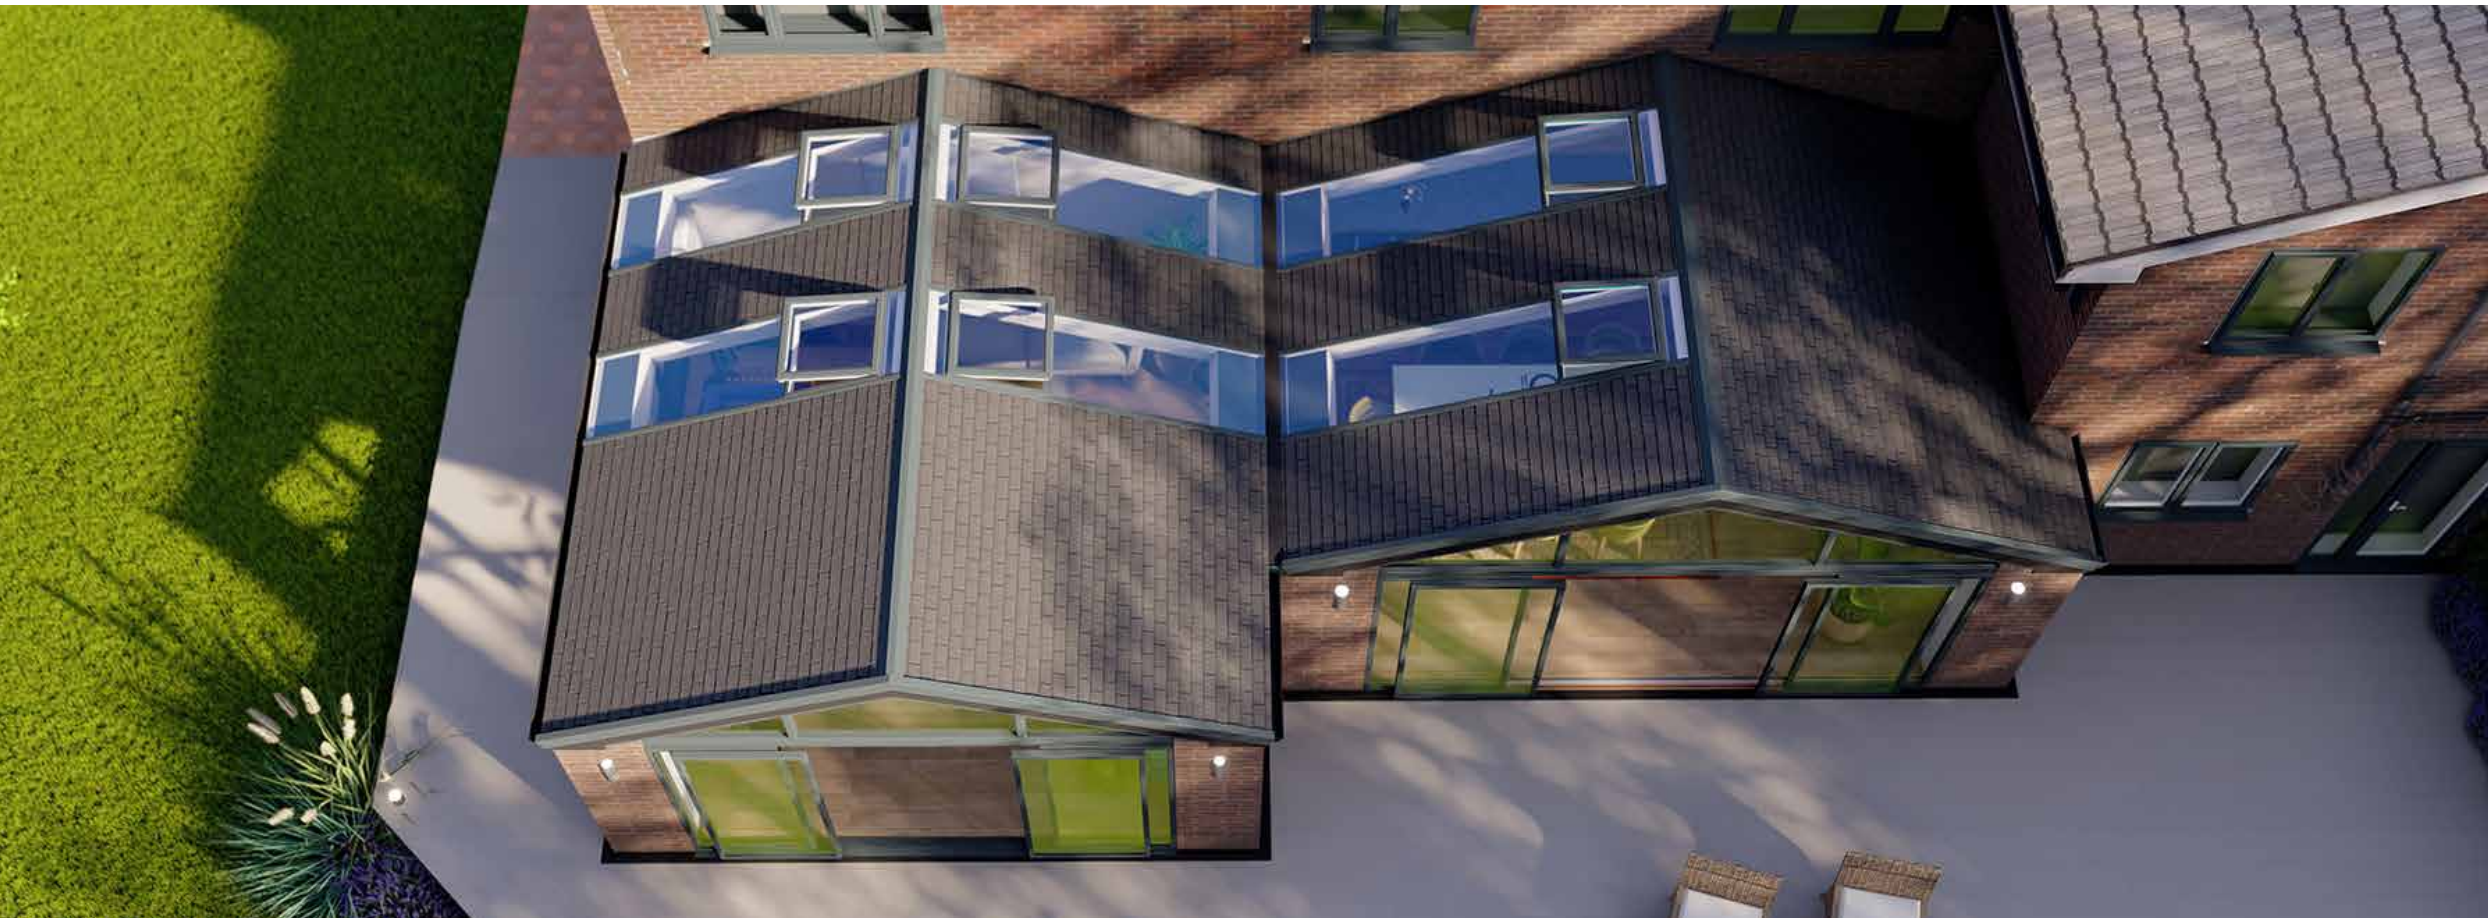

LAWTON, HOLMES CHAPEL

In collaboration with the Lawton's architect, we helped to create a stunning lean-to conservatory to extend their kitchen and dining area. Despite property charm, a compact kitchen hindered sales after a year on the market and our collaboration provided the solution.

Expanding the kitchen for a captivating “wow” factor, we executed the architect's plans, seamlessly integrating the new structure. The resulting extension has vastly transformed the already stunning property. The property has since been sold, following completion of the extension.

SAWYER, STAFFORDSHIRE

Clearview was brought on board by an award-winning architectural practice to bring plans for a stunning, open-plan double-living space extension to life.

Before beginning the construction work, we invited the Sawyers to spend time at our feature showroom in Leyland. Utilising the final design plans, we created 3D visuals, allowing the family to get a realistic feel of their soon-to-be-built space.

Our team handled all aspects of construction work, employing all the various tradespeople and managing each phase of work and ensuring that the pre-agreed deadlines were met.

SMITH, CHESTER

Working for the Smith family, we developed the grand plans for large-scale pitched extension.

Although traditional in design, the Smith's wanted to bring the outdoors in, we brought their vision to life with a rear-facing orangery designed to provide a seamless transition between their internal and external spaces.

Central to the plans was the inclusion of a water feature that flowed out of the orangery to an existing Koi Pond to the rear of the garden.

BLEAKMAN, STAFFORDSHIRE

Clearview was brought on board to design and build this double orangery extension in Staffordshire.

Wanting to maximise both the view and access to their impressive garden, we included sets of sleek sliding aluminium bi-folding doors to ensure the rear-facing elevation was near fully glazed.

Each orangery is based on the concept of togetherness, with one dedicated to dining and the other created to be a space for entertainment.

THE NEXT STEPS

So, you want to work with us to achieve your dream extension. Here's what you can expect.

As the only company who can manage your build from start to finish, we will guide you through all the design, planning and construction stages.

STAGE 1 DESIGN APPOINTMENT

We'll learn more about the brief, your proposals and gain a thorough understanding of what's required, from both a design and construction perspective. We can also advise on manufacturing and product limitations, enabling you to avoid any last-second issues on-site or through the planning application.

STAGE 2 VISUALS & PLANNING

We'll work with you to draw up a unique proposal that's tailored to your wants and needs. Using our state-of-the-art 3D software, we can transport you into the heart of your design, giving you the chance to virtually experience the space long before its built. Once approved, we'll manage all the planning applications.

STAGE 3 BUILDING WORK

Now that your dream space is designed and approved, it's time to make it a reality! Our project management ensures a smooth process, overseeing the schedule of works, minimising disruption whilst you reside in your home and coordinating our award-winning building and fitting teams. Once complete, you're free to start enjoying your brand-new living space.
